The aim of SEEDS is to increase and enhance capacities for entities located in MENA countries for vocational education and training, to increase working and work quality with Youth in a Green agriculture, following the principles of Regenerative Agriculture and to increase mobility for Youth workers into the Project partner countries.

This leads by improvement of Youth work to increase their access to the labor market and their better self-identification in the society.

SEEDS believe that girls, young females and finally women at home and in society should benefit of their freedom of choice.

As primary objective, SEEDS trains young people, targeting mostly on female youth with fewer opportunities as to increase their level of competencies and foster their active participation in the society.

The impact is multiplied; trained youth in return, will teach other young people from their communities to prepare and to start GREEN small businesses and REGENERATING farms to boost their already existing ones.
